

desperate efforts to retain control of the capital and other territory still in his hands until after the election of July 1.

Huerta Is Struggling.
They say the arrangements for the election are being feverishly hastened in the towns under federal control and they believe Huerta is struggling to hold out against his enemies until enough returns shall have been received for some one to be declared elected and quickly installed in office when Huerta will promptly surrender power and responsibility.

Conditions among the population of the capital are asserted by the refugees to be ominously quiet. The disintegration of the federal army has become widely known and the feeling among British residents is so strong that Huerta will be unable to hold off the constitutionalists long enough to prevent the humiliation of his forcible removal from office, that the British colony is preparing to defend itself during the days of expected turmoil in Mexico City.

The refugees say that other foreign colonies in the capital are taking similar precautions.

THE HOPE FOR THE FUTURE

They Are About Ready to Adjourn Formally—Military Conquest of the Mexican Capital Is Feared.

Niagara Falls, Ont. June 29.—Mediation tonight is in a most complex state. Its principals are undecided whether to adjourn formally or to resume and renew their efforts through the American government toward bringing the constitutionalists and Huertistas to a conference for the settlement of Mexico's internal problems.

The series of protocols covering various phases of the international situation has brought forth confident expressions from some quarters here that mediation will be a success, provided that anything of value actually has been accomplished.

That war has been averted is generally admitted, but of the actual pacification of Mexico, few here see any visible signs of progress.

The peace treaty now signed set forth in effect the conditions under which United States will recognize a government in Mexico, provided that the government is a republic, that it is not a compromise with that nation and that it is not a compromise with the United States.

Other, I have received no pecuniary assistance from foreign governments or citizens and from the beginning of the present revolution I have been solely sustained by national funds and by the aid of the United States.

REBEL LEADERS HOPE FOR NEW CONFERENCE
Monterrey, Mexico, June 29.—Reports received here today indicate that the suspension of the Huertista revolution is a triumph for the constitutionalists.

Such a new conference, it was asserted, would be a basis for a new constitution and a new government now recognized that nothing would be accomplished without the representation of the revolutionary element.

SUFFRAGISTS BOOST MEETING AT CAPITOL
The suffragists were certainly busy Monday. Members of the "votes for women" brigade carried on their program up until after the show of the day.

A Constitution reporter found them in the lobby of the Grand theater, where yellow banners streaming across their shoulders and a vivid display of suffragist flags were being carried.

They were distributing handbills and making speeches at the capital next morning.

At the capital during the day a squad of men were seen to be carrying a large banner and distributing the handbills.

PROFANE SCENES AT SARAJEVO

In Memory of Archduke and Duchess—Anti-Serbian Outbreaks Are Reported.

Sarajevo, June 29.—After the bodies of Archduke Francis Ferdinand and the Duchess of Hohenberg and repaid for a time in the chapel of the palace today they were transferred to a special train for transportation to Vienna.

The executive of the diet denounced the crime that had ended the life of the heir to the Austrian throne and his wife, and expressing loyalty to Emperor Francis Joseph and the Habsburg dynasty.

The manifesto also urged the people to "preserve their youth from the influence of seditious agitators, who poison the minds of their sons with subversive and anarchistic ideas."

Troops Called to Keep Order.
Anti-Serbian demonstrations were attacked and troops were called out to keep order. These demonstrations incited the proclamation of martial law, and the commander of the troops at Sarajevo exhorted the people, saying: "If you love your emperor, you will go quietly to your homes."

The military police immediately obeyed this request, and to-night the town was quiet. During the day, however, there were many reports of one person was hurt, the injury being a slight one.

Striking scenes occurred here late today, when a demonstration took place in honor of the Austrian imperial family. Long processions of Croatian and Magyar youth, carrying flags and portraits of the emperor, the dead archduke and his wife, marched through the streets, accompanied by enormous crowds singing the national anthem and raising patriotic cheers.

Many of the demonstrators were made at the scene of the tragedy and the people were very excited.

To the police, Nedeljko Gaborinovic, who hurled the bomb at the archduke's automobile, admitted that he had made a short time ago. There he obtained bombs for the purpose of making an attempt to kill the archduke.

The student, Gavril Princip, whose bullet ended the lives of the archduke and his wife, confessed that he returned from the city recently, and was very angry about some high Serbian official in order to avenge Serbian wrongs.

He declared he knew nothing of the "vicious" purpose and that when the bomb exploded he was standing near the archduke and his wife.

The official account of the assassination, issued today, after stating that the deadly effect of the murderer's bullet was explained by the extreme closeness of the range, reported that the assassin had been shot.
